

AIR POSSE SEEKS AVIATORS

OUR JOB WITH SCHOOLS—
They have been celebrating "American Education Week," which is a good thing. But not if we contribute to it nothing but four-minute platitudes. The praises of our American public school system, which were the commonplaces of oratory in our fathers' times, were well enough then, but are not enough now.

Our job is not so much to praise the schools as to improve them. And the first step toward improvement is intelligent criticism. They really do need to be made better.

Also it is well to boost the "Americanization" of aliens. But we have had too much of platitudes and too little of knowledge about that, too.

An essential foreigner Americanizing the foreigners is first to Americanize the Americans. And the surest avenue to bringing the immigrant to our viewpoint is first to show some indication that we understand his. Sometimes the "Americanizer" is the more ignorant of the pair.

So let us boost and boast and educate and Americanize. But let us also be critically observant and appreciatively humble.

A VOICE OF DESPAIR—The European pessimism has infected even Ambassador George Harvey, the most cynical of the isolationists. "Europe," he said, "is facing the most despairing outlook in history. If nothing comes of the next meeting of the premier, he 'failed to see how Europe could live another year.'"

It is not necessary to share his extreme view. Even those of us who think we use our American distance for long-sighted perspective instead of short-sighted blindness do not go so far. But at least, coming from Harvey, defiant isolationist, it is a shock to easy-going optimists.

George Harvey is a historian and a writer. Therefore, he chooses words and historical parallels with care.

"The most despairing outlook in history," he says.

Yet that history includes the fall of the Roman Empire, the invasion of Attila, scourge of God, the conquest of the Moors, the Thirty-years war, and multitudes of other disasters. The "outlook" of one of these calamities was on a thousand years of the disruption and in many ways of the suspension of civilization. Two of them threatened to Orientalize Europe and to depose the white race forever from the supremacy of the earth. The other so depopulated and impoverished Central Europe that it took more than a century to recover even its numbers.

These are outlooks which Europe has already faced. Harvey finds the present one even more despairing, and does not see how Europe can live another year. And America, he adds, "can withstand, but cannot endure" the effects.

We are all of us sure that none of this will happen. Probably we are right. But nearly all close-up European observers do have just this pessimistic view. And finally they have infected even George Harvey, the smartest sneerer we had in all the campaign of sneer that led to our isolation.

FIGHT FOR NEW FORGERY CASE TRIAL HERE

NEW SHIP BILL IN SENATE
BOND ISSUES ON SCHOOLS BOTH WIN

On the face of semi-official returns available today at the office of Frank L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, the $250,000 bonds for a junior high school district Saturday won by a margin of three votes, while the $150,000 issue for a new grammar school carried in the Santa Ana grammar school district by 319 votes.

THE NARROW MARGIN in the high school district may be wiped out by the official count of the returns to be made by the board of education at 1 p. m. Saturday. This, it was made clear, was just a possibility. The semi-official returns, in view of the small vote cast, were believed to be accurate.

IN THE HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT, a total of 1836 votes was cast, 1227 of which were favorable to the bonds and 609 unfavorable. On the basis of two votes for one against, these returns would show a majority of nine, but on the basis of two-thirds of the total vote cast the lead is only three.

ONE OF THE FEATURES of the election was that less than 15 per cent of the registered voters in the grammar school districts comprising the present high school district cast ballots.

AN ANALYSIS of the vote disclosed that in the thirteen precincts in Santa Ana, 1164 favorable votes were cast and 493 against. The grammar school districts of Delight, Diamond and Greenville, three of the districts closest to Santa Ana, supported the bonds almost 100 per cent, while Paulmarino, Harper-Fairview and Newport Beach cast strong majorities against. The Harper-Fairview district cast the heaviest opposition vote of any of the outside districts.

IT WAS THE EXPECTATION of the board of education, if irregularities in the proceedings do not develop to interfere with the sale of bonds or delay proceedings, to have a new junior high school building in the southwest part of the city completed in time for the opening of the next fall term of school.

AS REGARDS the erection of another grammar school in Santa Ana, for which the $150,000 issue voted, Andrews said that nothing had been definitely decided as to when construction of the building would be attempted.

IN THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL DISTRICT of Santa Ana, the $150,000 issue for a new school building in the city received 791 yes votes and 474 no, the total vote cast being 1265.

COURT DECLARES DRY LAW VIOLATORS FACE DOUBLE LIABILITY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Prosecution of dry law violators under state laws in state courts is not a bar to prosecution for the same offense under federal law in federal courts, the supreme court held today, overruling a decision by the courts of the state of Washington.

DOUBLE LIABILITY was intended by congress, the court declared, so the federal government could prosecute liquor violators if states having their own enforcement laws failed to punish properly.

BRITISH TO BUILD TWO BATTLESHIPS

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Great Britain has decided to build two capital ships, Premier Bonar Law announced in the House of Commons today.

THE PREMIER POINTED OUT that two new battleships were allowed Britain under the Washington arms treaty.

BECAUSE OF LACK of absolute accord between Britain and the other allies on a plan to deal with German reparations, Bonar Law called a cabinet meeting today to discuss the future attitude of England.

THE UNITED STATES ALREADY has announced that she would complete the two new ships to which she is entitled under the treaty. These will be the Colorado and the Washington. Upon their completion, the treaty calls for the scrapping of the North Dakota and Delaware.

GREAT BRITAIN, upon the completion of the two ships which Bonar Law today announced would be built, must scrap four battleships—the Thunderer, the Ajax, the Centurion and the King George V.

REPUBLICANS RALLY FOR HOT FIGHT

Administration Hopes to Force Measure Through By March 4

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Democratic opponents of the administration ship subsidy bill began placing obstacles in its path today at the very outset of its legislative journey through the senate.

SENATOR FLETCHER, Florida, leader of the opposition, temporarily blocked consideration of the bill by refusing his consent to give it precedence over minor measures on the senate calendar.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—A strengthened ship subsidy bill was brought before the senate today for action—opening what threatens to be a long and bitter struggle between the opposing factions.

ADMINISTRATION FORCES, with a somewhat rejuvenated confidence of pushing the bill through the upper house before May 4, rallied all their strong powers for the first onslaught.

OPPOSITION OF THE MEASURE on the other hand, were prepared for a policy of "resistance" in an effort to delay indefinitely any action, if they are unable to muster sufficient votes to connive its open defeat.

THE SENTIMENT as the opening gun was fired, appeared to be against carrying out the tremendous legislative task assigned for this session by President Harding.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS will be satisfied if they can obtain action on a rural credits measure, the appropriation bills and possibly some railroad legislation.

RIDLEY ALSO HEARD other American stations calling. British, French, Dutch and German amateurs announce they will endeavor to pick up United States broadcasting this week.

FIGHT ON SPEEDERS REDUCES CASUALTIES

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Eleven motorists were sent to jail for speeding today by Judge Joseph S. Chambers. Sentences were for two and three days.

FIGURES GIVEN OUT today showed that an average of twelve persons per day are being treated at hospitals as a result of auto accidents since the "fall the speeders" campaign started. Before that the average was sixteen per day. In the first nineteen days of November, seven persons were killed in traffic smashups. After that date, when the campaign began to the present, only four have been killed.

WILL RECEIVE BIDS ON NEW TRACT LOTS

Chambers and Molchan, subdividers of Wilshire Square, today announced that lots which face on South Main street in that tract will be sold to the highest bidder. Offers for the property will be accepted up to 9 a. m. tomorrow.

"THE BIG DEMAND for these business lots made it necessary to adopt this course of action," the subdividers said. "We felt that it was the fairest method in view of the many persons who desired to purchase lots on South Main street where the number available was limited."

False advertising was charged in a complaint issued through the district attorney's office today against Sam Granz, Harry Granz and another, proprietors of the Army and Navy Supply store, P. S. Lucas, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, was the complainant.

N. MAIN STREET BUILDING ON; CLASH SEEN

Heralding a possible clash between the city of Santa Ana and John O. Haley, Los Angeles, owner of the property, building operations began today at the north-east corner of Main street and Washington avenue on a $30,000 business building for which he obtained a permit several weeks ago.

THE ISSUANCE of this permit, temporarily revoked almost as soon as it was granted, was the signal for the adoption, in the course of several weeks, of the city's new zoning ordinance. The ordinance places the Haley property in a district in which business structures are not permitted.

In order to comply with the law in the matter, a notice seeking bids has been posted in the lobby of the local post office by F. E. Jarvis, post office inspector, of Los Angeles.

IT IS EXPECTED that the problem of more space will be solved by the extension of the present post office to the rear.

MAGNATES GATHER FOR BIG CONCLAVE

American, National League Owners Meet In N. Y.
for Wind Session

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—With just as much noise and the prospects of as little action as the minors engaged in last week in Louisville, the major league owners will hold their annual wind sessions here this week.

The National league meets tomorrow, the American league goes into session on Wednesday and both will hold a joint conference Thursday. With the annual meeting of the International league also today, it will be quite a baseball week.

Trades and big sale talk is rife around town. The magnates like to talk about million dollar sales as long as they don't have to pay the price themselves. Many trades are also said to be in the air and many will be completed if the club owners could get a good player without giving one in return.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league, predicts a quiet session for his club owners. The National league has been at peace for years, and no trouble is in prospect.

Rather general objection of the club owners to barnstorming by the players may result in some action being taken to further curb or entirely stop the practice.

Garry Herrman, president of the Cincinnati Reds, may suggest the adoption of a contract calling for twelve months' service from the players.

Ban Johnson still has his American league well in hand and little doings are expected at their session of the younger circuit moguls.

The National league may kick up a little row with Ban by asking him to prove or retract his insinuations against "Rube" Benton, former pitcher for the New York Giants, who is about to become a member of the Cincinnati Reds.

GONZAGA ELEVEN TO BATTLE W. VIRGINIA IN SAN DIEGO GAME

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 11.—West Virginia, rated as one of the three topnotch teams in the east, and Gonzaga University, of Spokane, with a gridiron record to be proud of, will clash at the stadium here on Christmas Day. Final details of the game were perfected today and both teams are training hard for the contest.

West Virginia is rated as a better team than either Pittsburgh, which meets Stanford at Palo Alto December 30, or Penn State which meets U. S. C. at Pasadena New Year's. West Virginia defeated Pitt State this year.

Gonzaga has lost but one college game this year and won most of its contests by big scores. It is rated as one of the best teams in the Northwest.

There was no crucial game between El Modena and Irvine the leaders in the Orange County Harbor league baseball scramble, yesterday afternoon.

This fracas along with those scheduled between the Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, and Newport, Garden Grove and El Toro and the Van Dien-Youngs company and the Tustin Knights of Pythias, all went by the boards when Orange county's rain storm continued in such proportions that baseball was impossible.

Yesterday's tilts will not be played off until the league schedule has been completed Sunday, February 18.

Harry Blacholder's Garden Grove nine, scheduled to open its season against the fast El Toro club, will make its debut next Sunday when it meets Irvine, now holding second place in the league standing.

IMAN WORKS HARD FOR DELHI BRAWL

Local Middleweight Hopes
To Stop Kelly In Go
Wednesday Night

Inclement weather today failed to halt Jack Iman local boxer, from going through his training stunts in preparation for his main event with Tom Kelly of Los Angeles at Boyd Ellis' Delhi arena next Wednesday night.

Iman is in earnest about his "comeback." He has never worked harder for any bout and if he does not defeat Kelly it will not be because he wasn't in good condition.

On the other hand, Tommy MacFarland who handles Kelly, has let Ellis know that his charge does not intend to stand around and watch the rugged Santa Ana middleweight land a lot of his punches without walloping a little himself.

Kelly is a mighty good boy. He is shifty and he hits hard and straight. His poor showing against Kid Mexico, MacFarland claims, was due to the fact that he had gone through a tough battle at Vernon the night before and naturally was not in his best shape.

Jack Iman, Santa Ana middleweight, who meets Tom Kelly of Los Angeles in the main event at Delhi next Wednesday night.

Ellis has set down a rule that a boxer who appears at Delhi hereafter must not have had a bout the previous evening. Kelly will be in the best condition possible for he realizes that another such defeat as he suffered two weeks ago will just about put him off the Delhi card for keeps.

Two men with a real k.o. punch. That is the semiwindup menu. Harry Gatten has stopped as many of his opponents as any gent that ever worked out at Delhi. Jack Martin, the husky Vernon favorite hasn't lost a verdict here in two years.

Tommy Acquire of Huntington Beach and Joe Garcia of Los Angeles will meet in the feature preliminary. It will be Acquire's first appearance at Delhi.

Battling Doty the new Delhi sensation, will tangle with "Delhi" Fredericks. Young Reels and Young McQuirk, both newcomers, are down for the second tray of the evening. Kid McCarter, local boy, tangles with Benny Diaz in the curtain raiser.

If I Could Have Only One Musical Instrument

I should choose a Brunswick. Because in the Brunswick, I get:

the piano
the violin
the harp

the flute
the cello
the full symphony orchestra and best of all, the human voice!

No other instrument in the world can give me the golden voices of all the world's greatest Artists.

No other instrument can give me the harmony of the world's greatest orchestras or the master touch of the greatest musicians.

And as well it is useful for dances and all the gay diversions of the youngsters.

In Choosing My

Brunswick

I would go straight to Padgham's. Because I know that there I will find a splendidly complete assortment of Brunswick Phonographs.

At Padgham's I know that I can test them all comfortably and at leisure. There I can buy any of them as low as elsewhere and on easy terms.

Offer Pleasure On
Two Afternoons

Among the happy pre-holiday affairs none have been productive of more enjoyment than the two bridge teas presented on Thursday and Saturday afternoons by Mrs.
A. M. Gardner and Mrs. E. H.
Keech at the home of the former,
323 East Washington avenue.

Decorations for the two functions were carried out in rose tints and ten tables were utilized for the in-tial affair while eleven were needed for that of Saturday.

In serving the delectable tea menu each afternoon, the rose idea was effectively carried out with each table centered with a basket, its handle wreathed with roses,
and filled with sweets.

Roses served too, to designate the players who were to act as "gentlemen," and move back as their successful partners moved forward. The innovation proved highly successful. Another original feature was the introduction of clever little hand-painted books at each table to take the place of the usual numbers. The books contained, in addition to the table's number, tally cards and score sheets. They were the handwork of Mrs. Gardner's daughter, Mrs. J. L. Clayton of Rockwell City, Iowa.

Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Keech were assisted by the Misses Gertrude Potts, Grace
White and Marjory Lusk. Honors were accorded Mrs. J. N. Bartholomew who was presented with a handsome picture, and Mrs. George Briggs who received a pair of book-ends. Mrs. J. E. Liebig received a box of stationery and Mrs. L.
L. Whitson received a deck of playing cards as consolation.

Saturday afternoon, the young girls assisting were the Misses Gertrude Potts, Grace White, Mildred Mansur and Madeline Keech, daughter of Mrs. Keech who came from her studies at the Good Samaritan hospital to be present, and Mrs. A. J. Gardner, daughter-in-law of Mrs. A. M. Gardner.

In according honors for that afternoon's playing Mrs. James Hardinger received a vase, Mrs. D. K.
Hammond, a picture; Mrs. Frank Miller, deck of cards and Miss Madeline Keech, stationery.

Among out-of-town guests were Mrs. Moulton of San Francisco who is the house-guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lewis Moulton of Moulton ranch, El Toro; Mrs. L. S.
White of San Francisco, sister of Mrs. Gardner; Miss Helen Moore,
Miss Cynthia Moore, Miss Doris
Jacobs and Miss Madeline Keech,
Los Angeles; Mrs. C. E. and Mrs.
Rosa C. E. Riverdale and Mrs.
Ethel Knowlton, Mrs. Gardner's daughter from Anaheim.

M. Lacy for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Cherry Blossom.

In the afternoon they will enjoy a talk and style show by Madam

Music Pupils Present
Delightful Recital
At Teacher's Home

The second in a series of piano recitals presented by the pupils of Miss Minnie Phillips was enjoyed by parents of the pupils at the home of Miss Phillips, 455 West
Sixth street, Saturday afternoon.

The program consisted of piano numbers, each pupil playing from memory and announcing her selection and the name of the composer.
Those taking part were the Misses Gertrude Chapman, Katherine
Chapman, Virginia Herzhiser, Doris Bolles, Berenice Taylor, Dixie
Chapman, Lucy Chapman, Elva
Cook, Eva Taylor, Eleanor Metzgar, Frances Wickert, Emmeline Swailes, Coleen Hall, Lois Gill and Vivian Smith.

Among the numbers, those of
Miss Lois Gill and Miss Vivian Smith were the same that they gave at the initial recital and were repeated by request. Miss Gill played "Rustle of Spring,"
"Prelude in C Sharp Minor,"
by Rachmaninoff while Miss Smith offered Chopin's "Waltz in G flat" and "Romance" by Pachel.

Following the recital the pupils and their mothers (of whom there were between fifteen and twenty present) enjoyed a pleasant social hour with Miss Phillips and her mother, Mrs. J. D. Phillips. The hostesses added to the pleasure of the affair by serving wafers and hot chocolate, with the assistance of the Misses Eva Taylor, Lois
Gill and Vivian Smith.

Christmas Suggested
In 500 Party at
Maag Home

A gay gathering of the young married set was that of Saturday night when Mrs. William H. Maag entertained at 500 at their Santa Ana Canyon home.

California holly was used profusely and suggested the approaching Christmas season as did all the decorations. The games of 500 were highly interesting and resulted in victory for Mrs. Willard Swarthout and Raymond Marcell while to Mrs. Jack Nelson and Arthur Carother were awarded consolation prizes.

Mrs. Maag, with the assistance of her sister, Miss Clara Kramer, served a delicious two-course supper with green and red Christmas colors predominating and the loss and cake of the second course carrying the same colors.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Maag were Mr.
and Mrs. Ernest Winbigler, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marcell, Mr.
and Mrs. Willard Swarthout, Mr.
and Mrs. Arthur Carothers, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nelson, Los Angeles;

It Isn't

It's Raining
Things to Do!

Unless you believe that it never rains in Southern California don't ever look to our Dennison Department for fascinating things to do on rainy days. And what's more (but don't breathe this) "YOUR Store for Gifts" is full of fascinating things to do on characteristic California sunny days as well.

Let us teach you this simple, skillful handcraft.

Dennison's rope baskets and lamp shades give the maker every chance for artistic expression, and your finished gift will be exactly what you want in color and design.

Hard to Believe

"I never believed that car wheels were made of paper," said a S. A. H. S. girl, "but when I see the baskets and trays and things you've woven from crepe paper, I'll almost believe it." We showed her—let us show you.

It's fun, and it's artistic, it's profitable—and it opens a great solution to the Christmas gift question.

NORMA TALMADGE PICTURE AT WEST END TOMORROW.
"By Right of Purchase," Norma Talmadge's current Selznick Revival which presents her in an emotional society drama of today, will be shown here at the West End theater. To support Miss Talmadge an unusually high-grade cast was assembled.

Eugene O'Brien plays the leading supporting role. Ida Darling has had a long career on the stage and screen, and is a noted character actress. William Courtleigh Jr. is a son of the popular actor; Charles Wellesly will be remembered principally for his excellent performance in "Redemption." Florence Billings is a talented screen actress of considerable experience.

With such a sterling cast, and with a sumptuous production, Norma Talmadge adds new laurels to her crown of artistic achievement in "By Right of Purchase."

HARRY FOX STARS IN BIG SHOW COMING HERE.

"Oh Look," the big Eastern comedy success which will be the attraction at Yost theater Wednesday night is a musicalization of James Montgomery's farce, "Ready Money," which made such a hit when it toured throughout the country several seasons ago. Montgomery re-wrote the piece, while Harry Carroll and Nat Goldstein furnished the jingly, tuneful score of lyrics. By arrangement with Comstock and Gest, Nat Goldstein is producing the show.

The star of "Oh Look" is the musical comedy pet, Harry Fox, who is well known throughout the country both in vaudeville and the legitimate stage. Once called "Ready Money" and first presented as a straight comedy possessed an idea; with J. McCarthy as lyric master, Harry Carroll and Nat Goldstein as melody producers, James Montgomery, author of "Irene" and "Going Up," has adapted the comedy into a good musical show.

Supporting Harry Fox will be seen a capable cast of New York players including Dave Jones, Muriel Hudson, T. A. Miller, Luther Yantis, Harry Hoyt, Wilber Higby, Violet Maye, Ethel Martelle, Leva Brown and a score of talented prize winning beauties including Betty Alexander.

VALENTINO, WILLIAMS IN FILM AT PRINCESS TONIGHT.

A compelling drama, ending in a crashing climax, describes "A Rogue's Romance," which shows at the Princess theater tonight. Earle Williams has never so completely triumphed in a characterization as in that of Mons. Picard. Rodolph Valentino literally dances himself into added laurels, for he gives an Apache dance which first brought him into the limelight as a cabaret dancer.

Those who have admired Valentino's work as an actor will be given an added treat in "A Rogue's Romance," when in addition to seeing him in a trying and exacting role he dances his way to success in a Paris cafe.

Of the picture itself, much may be said. It is action, romance, drama, comedy. It has lights and shadows. It is like a diamond of many flashing facets and above all it is different.

NORTH CALIF. UNDER HEAVY SNOW BLANKET

SAN QUENTIN, Dec. 11.—Prisoners serving life sentences in the state penitentiary here for murder must complete ten years of their terms before the state board of prison directors will permit them to apply for a parole.

Announcement of this policy came today after the prison directors denied the parole application of Damascus Garcia Gaviere Galur, director of the prison band, who is serving a life term for murder.

FIGHT REVEALS WHITE MAN IN NEGRO ROLE

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 11.—Arthur S. Hill unfolded a story such as only the best of novelists might weave when he filed in the superior court here a petition to become heir to the $10,000 estate of Robert Bruce Kyle, who died a short time ago.

The story began in Kentucky where, Hill alleged, a gay young Northerner betrayed a pretty daughter of the old south.

Hill, the petitioner alleged, was the son of the unwedded union. Robert Bruce Kyle was the brother of Hill's mother and, according to the papers filed here, he swore and carried out vengeance upon his sister's alleged betrayer—shooting him, but not fatally.

The mother, unable to face society with her disgrace, gave her babe into the keeping of her own negro mammy.

"I was told that the negroess was my mother and that my father was white," Hill declared. The mammy was released from her pledge to secrecy by the death of the couple.

Then followed a story of flight by Kyle and his sister, fearing prosecution for the shooting of the alleged betrayer, into Mexico and then to California where, in the last year both died.

But during some four decades which intervened Hill lived the life of a negro.

"For the first time in my life during the last year I sat at a table with white people where I belonged," he said.

"I always lived with negroes, believing that I was of their blood."

"I believe the story is entirely true," announced the public administrator, "and will use every effort to secure for this man the property of his uncle, the late Robert Bruce Kyle."

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, it does the work without the blister.

Just rub it on with your fingertips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

WALL ST. JOURNAL
FINANCIAL REVIEWStrength In Sterling Brings
Great Activity On N. Y. Change

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Pronounced strength in sterling, which reached new high levels on the movement, found reflection in the stock market, where the principal activity was on the side of advancing prices.

Speculative leaders, such as Baldwin, Steel common and Studebaker, were sluggish, but bullish demonstrations were staged in the market for Corn Products, Allied Chemical, Hudson Motors, Asphalt and Sears Roebuck.

Price movements in the rail list were less regular, but a good showing was made by New York Central, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico and several others which are benefiting from increased earnings, or where a large dividend is expected.

The market closed irregular. Closing prices:

Should People
Borrow Money?

SOME PEOPLE think that to incur a debt at the bank is in itself unwise, or a reflection on their business standing. Certainly this is not the case where the debt is contracted for legitimate business purposes.

Incurring debt so that one may live beyond one's income is something that no thrifty person would do, but wise borrowing is an encouragement to thrift and industry.

Very few business men can so conduct their business affairs that at no time will they need to borrow money. Situations are constantly arising in which the help of the bank is required. How important it is that our personal conduct now, when we are building character and capacity, be such that in the conduct of our affairs later on, when striving for success in business and life, we shall merit the confidence and help of the bank.

Feb. 1st

The age-old habit of giving deadwads and timecracks at Christmas is all right from a sentimental standpoint, but it ought to be tempered with a little judgment, too, don't you think?

One worthwhile present on a Christmas tree will make the giver stand forth as a person of good judgment and thought.

Can you imagine anything more useful, more acceptable, more worthwhile than a ROYAL Electric Cleaner? Any one who gets a ROYAL for Christmas will appreciate YOU, as well as the cleaner, for it will give her time for tennis, bridge parties, social enjoyments of every kind, that have been impossible because of house cleaning tasks.

The ROYAL is the best cleaner to give because it gets ALL the dirt, and what good is a cleaner that DOESN'T?

The ROYAL man will gladly demonstrate to you, and arrange for secret delivery to aid the surprise.

5000 PRESENT AS NEW HILL STORE OPENS

Keenly interested in the future of Santa Ana, fully 5,000 persons attended the reception given Saturday afternoon and evening by S. Hill and Son's, progressive merchants, who opened another modern store and office building at 213-215 East Fourth street.

"This," said Mayor J. G. Mitchell, "is a lasting tribute to the prosperity of our thriving city. Hill and Son's, opening this fine new brick structure in the heart of the city, have done much to advertise Santa Ana before the world. Visiting realtors, here to attend the convention, cannot help but be impressed by such striking evidences of progress."

All afternoon and evening Albert F. Hill and his executive force were kept busy greeting the hundreds of visitors. Coffee and water were served, Langley's orchestra furnished a splendid musical program, and many beautiful floral pieces were contributed by Santa Ana merchants and others. Among those who sent flowers were:

The Santa Ana Register, E. B. Van Meter, Preston and Livesey, California National bank, F. P. Nickey, W. C. T. U., Sam Hurwitz, William Cochems, G. A. VOTE ON ANTI-AUTO DRESSING, TOMORROW

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 11.—The referendum vote on this city's ordinance prohibiting the use of automobiles as dressing rooms, is to be taken tomorrow. The ordinance was held up on a referendum petition, and the decision as to whether it becomes law rests with the voters of the city.

2 PARENTAL HOME SITES CONSIDERED

Two sites for a county parental home will be considered at tomorrow's meeting of the board of supervisors, it was learned today. Members of the board refused to divulge the location of either site but S. H. Finley, who has had the matter in charge, intimated that one at least might be found satisfactory. A minimum of $25,000 will be expended for the building, it was expected.

Considerable interest was attached to the proceedings, in view of previous difficulties. The board's plans to erect the home on North Flower street were shattered when residents of that section protested against its location there.

In order to relieve the board of its responsibility incurred in taking an option on that site, Mr. and Mrs. James Smiley, residents of that district, purchased the property.

This big job, which will entail an expense of some $350,000, is being done by Zone No. 1 and Zone No. 2. Mutual Water companies. Contracts for the manufacture of concrete pipe.

APPEARANCE OF BIG BARITONE HERE TERMED EPOCHAL

Graveure, Noted Belgian,
Held Equal of Famous
John McCormack

SINGING IS PRAISED

Recital to Be Given at H. S.
Auditorium Next
Monday Night

That the singing of Louis Graveure, the great Belgian baritone, is on a par with that of certain standpoints superior to that of John McCormack, famous tenor, was the declaration that Clarence Gustlin, president of the Santa Ana Musical association, made today in emphasizing the importance of Graveure's appearance here next Monday night.

Graveure, who will give a recital at the high school auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, as the second number of the musical association's concert course, has talents and powers that may not be generally appreciated by Santa Ana music lovers, Gustlin pointed out.

Compares Drawing Power
"If McCormack were scheduled to sing in Santa Ana," Gustlin said, "we should probably see hundreds of persons turned away from the high school auditorium, as was the case when Sousa's band played here last season."

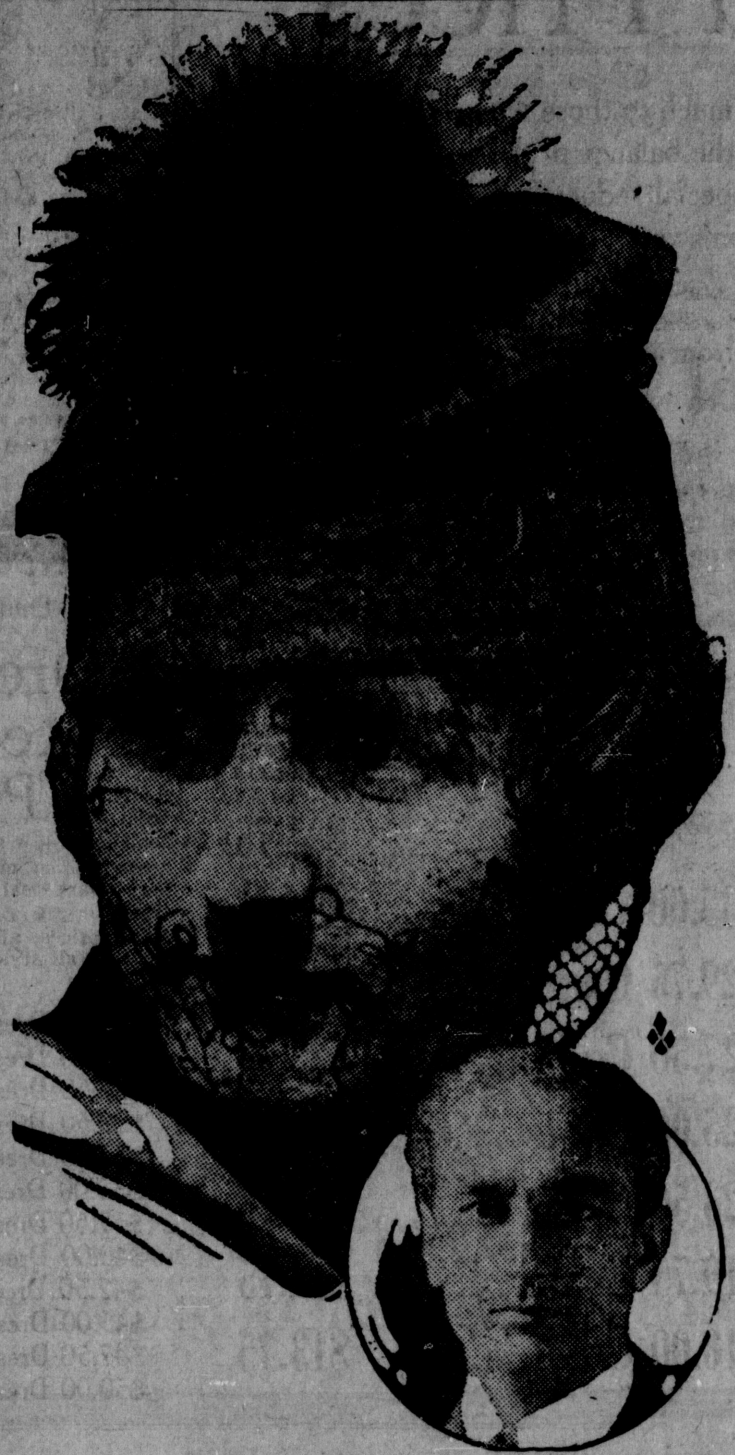

"I am sure that if our music lovers realized that in Louis Graveure we are bringing to this city an artist who is in most respects the equal of McCormack, and in not a few points his decided superior, there would not even be standing room at his coming recital."

"Not all artists which the musical association brings to Santa Ana can I personally vouch for, since I have not always been privileged to hear them in concert. But I have heard Graveure and my opinion of his ability coincides with that of the greatest musical critics of the day who pronounce him not only one of the most gifted vocalists in the world, also an interpreter of extraordinary powers. He truly makes a song live, no matter what its type, nationality or origin."

Big Guarantee Needed
"It was necessary to guarantee a very large sum in order to secure Graveure for this concert, since his appearances are confined almost exclusively to the large cities. Therefore, the musical association is under the necessity of urging the music-loving public to show appreciation of this extra effort to bring the highest class artists, which, of course, means the most expensive ones, by advertising and patronizing this truly exceptional event in Santa

Wilshire Square has All Improvements

BIG WILSHIRE TRACT OPENS TOMORROW

Tomorrow morning on the dot of eight will witness the opening of Wilshire Square, the great new subdivision being placed on the market by Mr. Leo Borchard and D. E. Ford, well known pioneers of Orange county. According to the opinions of realty experts present here during the recent convention, Wilshire Square offers exceptional opportunities to the investor and homeseeker as a fast developing property. Its location 12 blocks south on Main street, and its position well within the city limits of Santa Ana place it directly in the path of the city's southwesterly growth.

That exceptional interest has been awakened, not only among the people of Santa Ana but in towns throughout the county, is shown by the fact that hundreds of inquiries have been received by Chambers & Molchan, at the tract office of the property, 1242 South Main street. Many of these inquiries have requested that lots be put aside for them; but the policy of non-reservation prevents the sale of property prior to the opening date, Tuesday, December 12th, at 8 o'clock. "The great number of these inquiries," said Mr. Chambers, forecast an extremely rapid sale of lots in Wilshire Square, and it is urged that quick action be taken to secure the most desirable selections."

Register Paid High Tribute
High praise was given The Register by C. W. Macfarlane, in charge of advertising of Wilshire Square. "It is great pleasure," said Macfarlane, "to state that results achieved by advertising placed in the columns of The Register have been phenomenal. But of course it is what we expected from The Register. It was not with us a case of a pleasant surprise. It was a case of faith, and of a glorious vindication of that faith, in The Register and its staff."

Prices to Be Moderate
According to Chambers & Molchan, prices and terms of lots in Wilshire Square will set a new standard of value to homeseekers and investors. Improvements such as water, gas, electricity, sewers, 5-foot sidewalks, ornamental trees, etc., are now under construction, and their early completion makes immediate building in Wilshire Square possible.

It is announced that the tract office, at 1242 South Main street, will be kept open for one year to guard the interests of purchasers.

YULETIDE GLEE FOR TOTS IS GIRLS' AIM

High School and Junior College Co-eds Shape
Christmas Plans

Little pink celluloid dolls in bright-colored dresses cunning sewing baskets, popcorn balls and strings of tinsel and red paper, were making their appearance in the halls of the high school here today as members of the Girls' league launched their plans for the Mexican Christmas.

Santa Claus was practicing up on his best jingle bell manner and plans were afoot to put up in a day or two a Christmas tree to be decorated with all the necessities for a really spangly tree.

Friday, the last day of school before Christmas vacation, the Girls' league will put on the Christmas celebration with all the "fixins" for the little tots at the Artesia street school.

Gives Home-Made Candy
Girls in the school are donating home-made candy and this will be delivered to the guests at the league party in a real Santa Claus brand of sacks made of white netting and sewed up with red yarn.

Miss Eddie Nelson, vice-president of the club, is in charge of the plans and with her committee is succeeding in interesting nearly every girl in the school in the December social service plans.

The Santa Fe Mexican school is the special care, this Christmas, of the Junior College Y. W. C. A. and under the direction of Miss Alla Neely, social service chairman, the girls are planning to give a real Christmas to the little folk of the school.

College Girls Active
The college girls are planning to have a bag of candy and a gift for every child in addition to the tree and the presence of Santa Claus.

The Spanish club of the high school, under the leadership of Robert Budrow, is planning a Christmas party for the pupils at the Logan school, it was reported.

The club's plans include a tree, possibly a "spread" of some kind and everything that can be obtained to make a real Christmas atmosphere for the little tots.

REVEAL PROGRESS IN BIG BATTLE AGAINST GREAT WHITE PLAGUE

"Buy Christmas seals and save human lives" is the message that the Orange County Anti-Tuberculosis society is trying to put before all the inhabitants of this section, that they may do their share in trying to conquer the great white plague here.

Last year's work of the society showed wonderful results, it was declared today. One girl cured of tuberculosis; $75 was spent for clinical services; $200 was paid for milk for undernourished children; $194 went to the state department; $225 each was turned over to Anaheim and Fullerton sub-committees that they might establish dental clinics and conduct tuberculosis prevention programs.

Besides this one child was placed and maintained in a preventorium.

The quota for this year's work, which includes establishment of dental clinics, the forming of classes in connection with Parent Teacher associations and the placing of children in preventoria, is $3,000. This money must be raised by the sale of the red seal stamps.

SATAN'S FALL NEAR SAYS SPEAKER HERE

"Satan's empire is falling and a new order is about to be inaugurated," declared W. R. Stewart last night in his lecture before an audience in Lawrence Hall. Speaking under the auspices of the local branch of the International Bible Students' association, he said in part:

"Many today deny the personality of Satan, claiming that he is only an evil principle; but the Scriptures throughout assure us that he is a mighty being of the spirit nature. In 2 Corinthians 4:4 he is said to be the 'god' of this world who has 'blinded' peoples' minds concerning the true gospel."

"How Lucifer became the great adversary of God and men, and then how he drew after him many of the angelic hosts, is declared by the Bible to have resulted from pride and ambition."

The angels who followed Satan's wrongful course, and who constitute the unseen powers of his empire, are restrained in the atmosphere surrounding our earth. They have power to materialize through mediums. It is these wicked spirit beings with whom people communicate when they think that they are talking to their departed loved ones.

"Satan's organization, visible and invisible, is now in the process of overthrow. This will be followed by a new order of peace and happiness. The new government will be Christ's Kingdom for which Christians have long prayed, and for this reason millions now living will never die."

NOVEL 'YELLOW JACKET' PLAY ON TONIGHT

Players Ready to Present
First of Three Performances at Temple

At the Temple theater here, where tonight the curtain will rise on a new theatrical venture for Santa Ana, all was in a seething state today as the Santa Ana Community Players' association completed arrangements for the first performance of "The Yellow Jacket."

In the history of the successful plays presented during the past two years by the players' organization, variety has been the keynote of the productions.

Straight drama, comedy, farce-comedy, and finally a group of one-act plays have all been crowned with success. But tucked away in the mind of the director, Ernest Crozier Phillips, was a dream of one day, the presenting of "The Yellow Jacket."

At first it scarcely seemed feasible, but as each offering seemed to be even more successful than any that preceded it, the dream seemed to come within the realms of the possible, finally the probable, and at last came the announcement that "The Yellow Jacket" would be the next offering of the Community Players.

Selecting the cast offered no small problem and substitutions and eliminations were in order for many meetings until finally what was regarded as an absolutely satisfactory group of players was selected and rehearsals were begun in earnest.

Other members of the players and townspeople in general have watched developments of the play with the keenest interest and one of the largest opening night audiences in the history of the organization is expected to be at the Temple tonight in time for the rising curtain at 8:15 o'clock.

One group will be composed of members of the Community Players of Pasadena, who made reservations for a block of seats, many days ago. The Pasadena players have taken great interest in the local offerings and have attended various plays given.

"The Yellow Jacket" will have a three-night run and a full house is expected for each performance.

TEACHERS AND PUBLIC WILL HEAR EXPERT

Chester M. Sanford, vocational lecturer, will speak at the high school auditorium here tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The junior high school orchestra and glee clubs will furnish the musical program.

The lecture is the third of the series of city teachers' institute meetings. Sanford was chosen because of his ability to instruct the student and to advise the parent on this vital question of what to do "after school." Sanford has had years of experience in the industrial field.

BUICK IS FIRST ON ARROWHEAD'S ROAD

Buick scores again!
"Outdoor" Franklin of Los Angeles and his Buick won first honors in the dedication of the new Lake Arrowhead toll road, which has been under construction for the past year, in order that the Winter Sports and Snow Carnival at Lake Arrowhead in Arrowhead woods could be made available to the motorists of Southern California.

The dedication ceremonies for this new scenic highway took place where the road is bridged across the Mojave a short distance from Hesperia. These exercises were held December 2, and were under the auspices of the board of supervisors of San Bernardino county. M. P. Cheney, supervisor of Colton, was master of ceremonies. James W. Cole, San Bernardino county highway commissioner, and Edgar Ham, San Bernardino county surveyor, aided him in conducting the dedication. Representing the Lake Arrowhead syndicate were Andrew Warrington, Leon A. Atwood and L. J. Burrud. Members of the Southern California newspapers and a large crowd of interested spectators were present at the inauguration of this new road.

As M. P. Cheney drove home the silver spike, commemorating this occasion, and dedicating this spectacular highway to the beauty lovers of the West, "Outdoor" Franklin and his Buick crossed the gap that has been so long the barrier to winter activities for motorists in beautiful Arrowhead Woods, and paused only long enough for the representatives of the board of supervisors to board the Buick and away he sped over the new road to the first automobile to make the complete scenic tour of Lake Arrowhead by way of the new Lake Arrowhead toll road.

Congratulations continued to pour into Tustin today, following the dedication Friday of the new high school recently completed there at a cost of $300,000.

An elaborate program of exercises befitting the occasion, marked the formal dedication.

The new school is a magnificent structure of modern type, and serves the districts of Irvine, El Toro, Laguna, Trabuco, and Tustin. It is complete in every detail, including modern laboratories, departments for domestic science, commercial work and all other branches of study. It is provided with the latest improved lecture rooms and study halls, and the manual arts building in the rear is equipped for

BROOKLYN, Dec. 11.—Justice for the poor as well as the rich is demanded by members of the bar association who have banded themselves into a newly incorporated "Voluntary Public Defender committee of Kings County."

They urge the creation of a public office to be known as "the public defender," whose functions shall be to oppose the prosecuting attorney in all criminal cases where the defendant lacks money to hire counsel, collect evidence, and otherwise safeguard his interests.

"The state employs a prosecuting attorney and gives him whatever appropriation he needs to put people in jail," said Attorney Joseph Goldstein, who initiated the movement, "and the state should likewise finance a 'public defender' to keep innocent people out of jail. This is simple justice; nothing more."

Four times Goldstein has had bills introduced in the New York assembly providing for the creation of such an office. Each time the bill was killed in committee.

Now he has taken a new tack, by forming a voluntary committee of Brooklyn lawyers who will contribute whatever time and money

HOT POLITICAL BATTLES SEEN AT ELECTION TO BE HELD IN APRIL

City Attorney and Marshal
Posts Center of Interest
In Speculations

CHARTER IS FACTOR

Counsel Office More Than
Likely to Be Appointive,
Is Declared

Intensifying interest in the question of what attorney, if any, will succeed Clyde Bishop as special city counsel when he withdraws from that position December 31, several attorneys were mentioned here today as possible successors of Bishop, as special city counsel, or to come out as candidates for city attorney in the April election.

Those mentioned included Charles D. Swanner, present city attorney for Seal Beach; Roland Thompson, former deputy district attorney here, and now associated with Swanner in law practice in this city; and Stanley M. Reinhaus, member of the law firm of Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus.

At the same time, it became increasingly apparent that the April election would see a spirited contest for the office of city marshal. Claude Rogers, recently appointed to succeed Sam Jernigan when the latter resigned preparatory to taking over the sheriff's office in January, is certain to be a candidate. Sid Smithwick, now a police officer here, has definitely announced that he will enter the race. It is considered probable that Theo. Lacy, who will, in January, depart from the office of county jailer, will seek appointment shortly as a police officer, and in April will seek office as city marshal.

Swanner Hears Reports
Asked whether he would undertake the work of special city counsel, in the event the place is offered him when Bishop relinquishes the position, Swanner said:

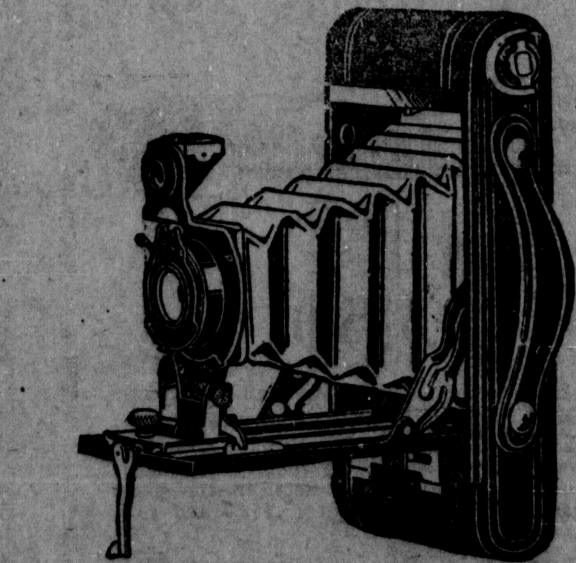

"I do not know anything about the matter. I knew, of course, that Clyde Bishop had asked to be relieved of his duties, but I have heard only fragmentary reports concerning the appointment of his successor—if such appointment is made."

Except to say that it was hardly probable, Swanner declined to comment upon the report that he would be in the race for the position of city attorney at the spring election.

Thompson was non-committal concerning his own plans.

"I do not know who will succeed Bishop," said Thompson, "and it is a little too early for spring forecasts. I have heard some talk, and several names have been mentioned, but that is about all."

Sees Charter Carried

"If the charter goes over, and I am convinced that it will, the office of city attorney will be made appointive. If the charter form of government becomes effective, the man elected in the spring will serve only until midsummer. Thus the successful candidate at the polls might or might not continue as city attorney. This, of course, is bound to have its effect upon the prospective candidates."

Reinhaus said his own interest in the matter centered around Swanner.

"I do not know that Swanner would want the place," said Reinhaus, "but as far as I am concerned, I know that I would be behind him, in case he decides to enter the race in April."

The office of city attorney now pays $125 a month.

Whether City Attorney Scott will be a candidate in April is problematical. He was asked whether he planned to enter the race, but declined to make a statement.

At the city election in April, a full set of officers will be elected. These include five trustees, a clerk, a marshal, an attorney, a recorder, a treasurer, and five members of the board of education.

It is expected that E. L. Vegely will be a candidate for re-election as clerk, W. F. Heathman for re-election as recorder, and Mrs. Olive Lopez for re-election as treasurer.

It is stated that J. L. McBride, president, and F. L. Andrews, secretary, of the school board, will not be candidates for re-election. Each is on his eighth year of service.

It is not known who among the city trustees will seek re-election.

is needed to defend penniless persons charged with crime. Agitation for public defenders in all states will be kept up.

Anna W. Hochfelder, woman attorney, was one of the first to offer her services.

"Prosecutors are supposed to see that justice is done," said she. "But it is only human for them to measure their success by the convictions they get. A state-financed 'public defender' should be provided for the defense, just as a district attorney is provided to handle the prosecution. Until such a time as 'public defenders' are created in New York state I shall be glad to serve on this voluntary defenders committee."

"Supreme Court Justice Fawcett is one of several Brooklyn judges who have publicly endorsed the plan. The Brooklyn attorneys behind the movement hope to interest bar associations in all parts of the country in establishing similar arrangements for adequately defending arrested persons who lack funds."

SELECT LEADER FOR P.-T.A. AT GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 11.—There was a good attendance at the high school Parent-Teacher association meeting held at the Baptist bungalow recently, thirty-five being present.

Mrs. J. E. Snow, district secretary and Mrs. E. L. Morris, county president, Santa Ana, were present and gave interesting and instructive talks. A number of talks were also given by local high school teachers relative to the work that can be accomplished through the organization.

Mrs. P. N. Larson was elected president of the association. The members of the organization feel that they are fortunate in securing such a capable officer to fill this important position. Mrs. Archie Kearns was elected vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Broeg, secretary, and Mrs. S. R. Pitt, treasurer.

The newly organized high school Parent-Teachers' association starts out under favorable conditions and real accomplishments in bringing the teachers and parents into closer contact, and of awakening a keener interest in community welfare are sure to be the result.

At the conclusion of the meeting light refreshments were served.

AMITY PACT SEEN IN WILL CONTEST

Prospects of an amiable settlement of the contest involving the will of the late William Wiederholt, leader of a cult at Placentia, was seen today, when attorneys for the contestants and the heirs by the will requested a continuance of a hearing until next Friday for the purpose of consultation. Superior Judge R. Y. Williams, before whom a hearing on the contest was scheduled granted the continuance.

It was understood that Louis Wiederholt, a son of the deceased by his first wife, and Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, a granddaughter, had arranged to accept $1,000 each as a settlement, and to withdraw their contest.

Their actions in this regard were believed to have been governed largely by a decision last week, when Superior Judge Z. B. West ruled that the estate over which the controversy was waging was held in trust by the deceased.

A ten-acre ranch, and stocks and securities had been at stake in the fight.

Gridel was said to have been crossing the road when he was run down. He was removed to the hospital in an ambulance. The exact extent of his injuries was undetermined pending a thorough examination by attending physicians.

Joseph Kagely, 72, was recovering from minor injuries which he sustained Saturday night when he was struck at the intersection of Third and French streets, by a car driven by Joe Medea, Delhi. He sustained only minor abrasions, it was said.

DOCTOR TAKES SKINS FOR USE AT MISSION

PLACENTIA, Dec. 11.—The many friends of Dr. William A. Key, especially those who are interested in missionary work, will be pleased to hear of his securing the appointment in the Grenfell mission at St. Anthony, Newfoundland.

He sailed from New York Saturday and expects to arrive there about the 24th of December. In a letter just received by his mother, Mrs. Mary F. Key, Placentia avenue, he tells of his preparations for the trip and work and will take rather a different outfit than he would need here. Fur caps, mits, skills, snowshoes are included. Though Dr. Key's term is not up at the Bellevue hospital, New York, he was released from the staff because of this exceptional opportunity. It is not known how long he will stay at the Labrador mission.

Before leaving San Francisco a year ago, Dr. Key heard Dr. Wilfred Grenfell speak, and read one of his books, never expecting to work in the field although he was greatly interested in it.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Klark W. Decker, Miss Agnes Decker and Little Jack Decker of Orange.

Frank Shields of North Lemon street and Miss Edith Morilla, of Orange, were married in Los Angeles December 4. The newlyweds will make their home here.

Mrs. L. A. Stevenson, of East Palmyra avenue, recently entertained the Pythian Sisters. The program of the afternoon was fancy-work in general for the Pythian Sisters' bazaar, which will be held this week. Refreshments were served just before adjournment.

Charles W. Riggle of North Olive street, who was operated upon several days since at the Santa Ana hospital, is doing well.

Mrs. R. J. Kimbrough of North Glassell street, who has been ill, is now much improved.

Jay Harbor of Tustin was a business visitor in town on Saturday.

SLEEPER COMPLAINS AS GIRL PLAYS 'SAX'

Tones of a baritone saxophone, in the hands of a small girl, are not soothing and conducive to sleep, according to a complaint made to police by an unidentified man.

According to his reports, a little miss who lives on Fruit street wields a wicked "sax." What she lacks in skill she makes up in gusto, the mysterious man charged.

Officer John Coombs went over to "see how much music there was," he stated in a report filed by him later.

The young woman agreed to cease her serenade, he concluded in the files.

CHURCH HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

VILLA PARK, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Young, of Long Beach, who was a resident of Villa Park about ten years ago called on several friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morningstar spent Sunday last week in Anaheim with relatives. They called on Mrs. Morningstar's aunt who had been ill on Thanksgiving day.

John P. Holditch and A. S. Adams accompanied by Mrs. W. Marsh, Mrs. Earl Rice and daughter, Evelyn, who were leaving for their home in Donaphan, Neb., drove to Los Angeles on Thursday morning. Mrs. Marsh came out to visit her sister, Mrs. A. S. Adams, who was quite seriously ill a few weeks ago and is now able to get around a little.

The thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Villa Park Congregational church, was held in the church on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. Owing to the rain and sickness there were not as many present as would have been in attendance.

Reports were given by the clerk, G. G. Caldwell, Treasurer E. W. Squires; Sunday School Treasurer Miss M. Holditch; Sunday School Superintendent Charles Morrow, Ladies' Aid, Mrs. E. W. Squires; and the clerk read the reports of trustees, canvassers and nominating committee.

The finances of the church Sunday school and Ladies' Aid all showed an increase over last year. Officers elected for the coming year were:

Treasurer, C. W. Morrow; clerk, G. G. Caldwell; deacon, Ray Billingsley; organist, Mrs. C. O. Thomson; chorister, Mrs. H. Flinthan; Sunday school superintendent, Charles Morrow; trustees, H. T. Thomson and C. W. Morrow.

The Shakespeare club met at the home of Mrs. Ellen Holditch and Miss Margaret Holditch with the following members present: Misses Lee Holditch, Mesdames Bathgate, Morningstar, Adams, Ragan and Holditch.

A short report was given by Mrs. Bathgate and Miss Lee of their trip to Los Angeles to hear Madam Tingley of Point Loma lecture.

Reading of Hamlet was begun at Act I, Scene IV, and continued to the end of Act IV. During the reading there were several spirited discussions.

Club will meet with Mrs. Bathgate on Thursday, December 21, unless there is some change before that time.

RETURNED FROM EAST OLIVE, DEC. 11.—Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Thomas of Olive have returned from a several months' Eastern trip. They visited in New York, Milwaukee, Philadelphia and Chicago. Considerable winter was in evidence before they turned right about face for Southern California's sunny land.

HARPERVILLE

HARPERVILLE, Dec. 11.—Clarence Pearson and Sam Weaver were in Los Angeles Wednesday looking after some passing business interests. These gentlemen may make a trip to some of the Eastern states soon after the new year. Both are interested in matters of business that involve investors in the East.

Dr. H. B. Spayd and wife spent a few days at San Diego returning Saturday, December 2. They were visitors at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Parker, while in San Diego. They made the trip in their new Durant auto, and report that the machine did fine work but the detours were abominable. Especially was this true after the first showers that had made the roads dangerous. Machines were on the road sides and in the ditches, marooned in the mud.

The Spayds however, considered themselves fortunate in that they passed all the dangerous places without serious trouble.

A party of Harpersville folks spent last Wednesday evening with Thomas Plant. Tom is a good host and the folks say he was at his best and a general good time was theirs.

It is generally reported that one of our citizens got into the grip of the Orange county traffic cops. This is the first of Harpersvillites to get so enmeshed, and it is hoped the report is false.

Joe Harmon has gone into the San Bernardino mountains to look after one of his father's gold mines. Joe has a small mill of his own and brings back the gold in his machine and prepares it for the Los Angeles markets. A big surprise in the gold business by the holders of claims by Harpersville citizens is due and may be sprung soon.

Mr. H. B. Dankers met with an accident that might have been serious recently. While working in his orchard with horses and implement he got entangled in the machine and as a result has been confined to his bed for some days.

Carl and Albert Christiansen spent a few days in the Coachella valley recently. They motored to the home of their sister who is a resident of that valley and a grower of fine dates. The boys are a bit enthusiastic over the date proposition up there, and especially so as to how they taste.

H. B. DeWitt, "The old man eloquent" of Harpersville and Mrs. DeWitt were the guests of F. P. Rosset and family last Monday evening. Dr. H. B. Spayd and wife were also guests at the same home the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Rosset enjoyed a delicious evening dinner with the Spayd family one evening this week.

ing this week.

The coming of the rains has revived interest in the bad roads Harpersville is served with. The Orange road is in a very bad condition and has really been so for two or three years. All the other roads have been repaired, but this one the most traveled of any of them, and the one driven over by the school children for some unknown reason is neglected, and mud holes and water pools must be splashed through morning and evening.

The house occupied by the Rohr family, formerly owned by Ray

Dickson, now of Santa Ana, has been vacated recently and the Rohrs have returned to Los Angeles.

A red hot discussion over a book on checker playing has been going on for some weeks now, in one of the Los Angeles papers. One side of this discussion has been maintained by one of our citizens and he seems to have his opponent well in hand.

Triumphs of M. Jonquelle

By MELVILLE DAVISSON POST
© 1922 NEA Service, Inc.

THE FORTUNE TELLER
Begin Here Today

Seated in the quiet of his Paris study, M. JONQUELLE, greatest of French detectives, reads from his father's diary the tale of a crime that took place years ago in far-off Virginia.

The diary tells how the son of PEYTON MARSHALL stole his father's will because he believed his father at his death had been strangely influenced by the Englishman.

MR. GOSFORD, and that under this influence had left Gosford all his $50,000 estate instead of keeping his promise and leaving his son $30,000.

The writer of the diary recounts states in this republic could not hold together very much longer. He believed that the South would divide, and the South set up a separate government. He hoped this might come about without a war. He had traveled; he had seen nations and read their history, and he knew what they were talking when they urged war.

He paused and looked at Gosford.

"My father was convinced that the South would finally set up an independent government, but he hoped a war might not follow. He believed that if this new government were immediately recognized by Great Britain, the North would accept the inevitable and there would be no bloodshed. My father went to England with this scheme. He met Mr. Gosford somewhere on the ship, I think. And Mr. Gosford succeeded in convincing my father that if he had a sum of money he could win over certain powerful persons in the English government and so pave the way to an immediate recognition of the Southern Republic by Great Britain. He followed my father home and hung about him, and so finally got his will. My father was careful; he wrote nothing; there is no evidence of this plan, but my father told me, and it is true."

My father stopped by the table and lifted his great shoulders.

"And so," he said, "Peyton Marshall imagined a plan like that, and left its execution to a Mr. Gosford!"

The Englishman put down his pen and addressed my father.

"I would advise you, sir, to require a little proof for your conclusions. This is a very pretty story, but it is prettified by an admission of no evidence. And it comes as a special pleading for a criminal act. Now, sir, if I chose, if the bequest required it, I would give a further explanation, with more substance; of moneys borrowed by the deceased in his travels and to be returned to me. But the will, sir, stands for itself, as Mr. Lewis will assure you."

My father seemed brought up in a cul-de-sac. His face was tense and disturbed. He stood by the table; and now, as by accident, he put out his hand and took up the Japanese crystal supported by the necks of the three bronze stars. He appeared unconscious of the act, for he was in deep reflection. Then, as though the weight in his hand drew his attention, he glanced at the thing. Something about it struck him, for his manner changed. He spread the will out on the table and began to move the crystal over it, his face close to the glass. Presently his hand stopped, and he stood stooped over, staring into the Oriental crystal, like those practitioners of black art who predict events from what they pretend to see in these spheres of glass.

Mr. Gosford, sitting at his ease, in victory, regarded my father with a supercilious, ironical smile.

"Sir," he said, "are you, by chance, a fortune-teller?"

My father, his face held above the crystal, "I see here a misfortune to Mr. Anthony Gosford. I predict, from what I see, that he will release this bequest of moneys to Peyton Marshall's son."

"Sir," said the Englishman, now provoked into a temper, "do you enjoy this foolery?"

"You are not interested in crystal-gazing, Mr. Gosford," replied my father in a tranquil voice. Permit me to piece out your fortune, or rather your misfortune, Mr. Gosford! By chance you fell in with this dreamer Marshall, who had taken a fancy to you, and tended a relation to great men in England; followed and persuaded him until, in his ill-health, you got this will. You saw it written two years ago. When Marshall fell ill, you hurried here, learned from the dying man that the will remained where it was. You made sure by pretending to write letters in this room, bringing your portfolio with ink and pen and a pad of paper. Then, at Marshall's death, you inquired of Lewis for legal measures to discover the dead man's will. And when you found the room ransacked, you ran after the law."

My father paused.

"That is your past, Mr. Gosford. Now let me tell your future. I see you in joy at the recovered will. I see you pleased at your foresight in getting a direct bequest, and the care you urged on Marshall to leave no evidence of his plan, lest the authorities discover it. For I see, Mr. Gosford, that it was your intention all along to keep this sum of money for your own use and pleasure. But alas, Mr. Gosford, it was not to be! I see you writing this release; and Mr. Gosford—my father's voice went up full and strong—"I see you writing it in terror—sweat on your face!"

"The Devil take your nonsense!" cried the Englishman.

My father stood up with a twisted, ironical smile.

"If you doubt my skill, Mr. Gosford, as a fortune-teller, rather a misfortune-teller, I will ask Mr. Lewis and Herman Gaeki to tell me what they see."

The two men crossed the room and stooped over the paper, while my father held the crystal. The manner and bearing of the men changed. They grew on the instant tense and fired with interest.

"I see it!" said the old doctor, with a queer, foreign expletive.

"And I," cried Lewis, "see something more than Pendleton's vision. I see the penitentiary in the distance."

The Englishman sprang up with an oath and leaned across the table. Then he saw the thing.

My father's hand held the crystal above the figures of the bequest written in the body of the will. The focused lens of glass magnified to a great diameter, and under the vast enlargement a thing that would escape the eye stood out. The top curl of a figure 3 had been erased, and the bar of a 5 added. One could see the broken fibers of the paper on the outline of the curl, and the bar of the five lay across the top of the three and the top of the e behind it like a black lath tacked across two uprights.

The figure 3 had been changed to 5 so cunningly as to deceive the eye, but not to deceive the vast magnification of the crystal. The thing stood out big and crude like a carpenter's patch.

Gosford's face became expressionless like wood, his body rigid; then he stood up and faced the three men across the table.

"Quite so!" he said in his vacuous English voice. "Marshall wrote a 3 by inadvertence and changed it. He borrowed my pen-knife to erase the figure."

My father and Lewis gaped like men who see a pennied-in beast slip out through an unimagined passage. There was silence. Then suddenly, in the strained stillness of the room, old Doctor Gaeki laughed. Gosford lifted his long pink face, with its cropped beard bringing out the ugly mouth.

"Why do you laugh, my good man?" he said.

"I laugh," replied Gaeki, "because a figure 5 can have so many colors."

And now my father and Lewis were no less astonished than Mr. Gosford.

"Colors!" they said, for the changed figure in the will was black.

"Why, yes," replied the old man. "It is very pretty."

He reached across the table and drew over Mr. Gosford's memorandum beside the will.

"You are progressive, sir," he went on; "you write in iron-nut-gall ink, just made, commercially, in this year of 'fifty-six by Mr.

Stephens. But we write here as Marshall wrote in fifty-four, with logwood."

He uttered and tumbled in his little case of bottles.

"I carry a bit of acid for my people's indigestions. It has other uses." He whipped out the stopper of his vial and dabbed Gosford's notes and Marshall's signature.

"See!" he cried. "Your writing is blue, Mr. Gosford, and Marshall's red."

With an oath the trapped man struck at Gaeki's hand. The vial fell and cracked on the table. The hydrochloric acid spread over Marshall's will. And under the chemical reagent the figure in the bequest of fifty thousand dollars changed beautifully; the bar of the 5 turned blue, and the remainder of it a deep purple-red like the body of the will.

"Gaeki!" cried my father, "you have trapped a rogue!"

"And I have lost a measure of good acid," replied the old man. And he began to gather up the bits of his broken bottle from the table.

Another triumph of M. Jonquelle, "The Triangular Hypothesis," will begin in our next issue.

*This is the gospel of Labor—
Ring it, ye bells of the kirk!
The Lord of love came down from above
To live with the men who work.
This is the rose he planted
Here in the thorn-cursed soil;
Heaven is blest with perfect rest,
But the blessing of earth is toil.*

DECISION IN SCHOOL CASE

It is believed that a decision entered in the Supreme court in a San Rafael case fully establishes the control of the Santa Ana board of education over the Santa Ana High school district as enlarged by the annexation of the Delhi, Greenville, Diamond, Paularino, Harper-Fairview and Newport Beach districts.

Details concerning the Supreme court decision have not been received here. The action was brought by the San Rafael city board of education.

Under a measure passed by the 1921 legislature, every common school district in a county must belong to some high school district. In this county, eighteen months ago, in accordance with this act, every common school district not belonging to some high school district was annexed to some high school district. In relation to the enlarged Santa Ana High school district the question was raised as to whether the school board elected in the City of Santa Ana had the right to control the entire district. Acting under opinions given by the attorney general and the state superintendent of schools, control here was exerted without question.

Whether the next high school board, which in the case of Santa Ana is to be elected next April, shall be voted upon by the entire district or by Santa Ana city only, has been somewhat in doubt. It is hoped that the decision in the San Rafael case will definitely settle the question. It has been the hope of the board of education here that the entire high school district would vote upon the selection of a high school board. Any interpretation of the law that will prevent the districts outside of Santa Ana from having a voice in the selection of the high school board would be manifestly unfair to the districts outside of Santa Ana.

QUICK DECISIONS

Two football fans were arguing over the merits of a certain player. One said that though this fellow had a wide reputation for his brilliant work, yet his value was overestimated, since he never had any plan of action thought out in advance. He could not tell what he was going to do, because he did not know himself.

The other fan argued that in football it is not possible for anyone to tell in advance what he is going to do, and that success comes to those who size up and act on a situation instantaneously.

Opinions would differ as to which type of mind is the most useful in football. Some prefer the thoughtful planner, one who thinks out situations in advance and tries to work out some consistent scheme of plays. Others prefer the quick thinker, who has little plan, but grasps opportunities with the speed of lightning.

When people get out into life they still have these two temperaments, and there would be a difference of opinion as to which is the more useful. In some callings, like law and politics, quick thinking is essential, to meet arguments of opponents. The editor of a large daily newspaper once remarked that the great fault of his assistants was that they could not size up changes in a situation quick enough. Their minds were not flexible. They would lay out and make up their paper with the idea that certain news should be featured. Then, later, if important stories came in, they could not see that these were the big thing, and that the former plan must be set aside.

In the majority of callings people have time for deliberation. But many men who are careful planners are too set in their notions, and their minds work slowly when it comes to meeting new conditions. The best success is attained only by those who combine careful advance planning and quick readjustment to new situations.

NAVAL DISARMAMENT

The French parliament is still holding up the naval disarmament treaty signed at the Washington conference last winter. Premier Poincare has professed to be for it, but there is no action. And France's delay is holding up the operation of the treaty as far as the four other naval powers are concerned. There has been considerable dismantling of old battleships, and new building projects contemplated before the conference have been largely held in abeyance, but the full effect of the treaty is far from being realized.

It would be understandable, though not convincing, if France explained that, having seen this country refuse to ratify two treaties in which France is vitally interested—the Versailles peace pact and the three-power treaty in which Great Britain and America were to pledge aid to France in case of attack—France feels perfectly free to turn down a treaty in which America is especially interested. But France does not put her refusal on that ground. The only explanation forthcoming is that the treaty is a victim of domestic politics, with a party holding the balance of power using the treaty for mere trading purposes.

A more plausible explanation might be that the French government itself wants to do some trading with the United States government and will ratify the treaty for a sufficient consideration.

In any event, delay is bad, and the other powers cannot wait forever. If France fails to ratify the treaty shortly, there is no evident reason why the United States, Great Britain, Japan and Italy should not go ahead without her, making it a four-power treaty, and putting it into immediate effect.

HIDDEN ARMS IN GERMANY

Guns and arms may be hidden around Germany, as Mr. Clemenceau says. Possibly if a thorough search were made, an impressive total of cannon, machine guns, rifles, shells, etc., would be found. It does not follow, though, that France or any other country need get so excited about it as to fear an immediate invasion from Germany.

Every calm observer of conditions in Germany pronounces that country utterly incapable of either offensive or defensive warfare. It is realized clearly enough in Paris that if the French army advances into the Ruhr in January, there will be no opposition. Germany cannot help herself.

The arms referred to are widely scattered and absurdly insufficient to equip an army. Many if not most of the caches are private collections. What furtive manufacture there is now cannot amount to much, with allied inspectors always on duty to see that the disarmament terms of the peace treaty are obeyed.

In fact, disarmament is the one way penalty that Germany has very nearly paid in full. If she had done as well with reparations, there would be little criticism.

SEE EDUCATION WEEKS

One of the things learned during the seven days of "Education Week," last week, is the fact that every one of the fifty-two weeks of every year should be an education week.

Sound and wholesome education means more to this country in the long run than all the material prosperity which could possibly come to it. In fact, without education the material prosperity would not be assured. Even life, liberty and happiness would be less hopefully pursued if education were lacking.

There has been much disagreement about education in recent years. Whether it should be made more practical and whether this theory or that should be carried out are questions which have occupied much of the attention of educators and laymen alike. But even the disagreements will be beneficial if it helps to keep education out of ruts.

Mastering the Pacific

American trade with the Orient is just now more important than trade with Europe. There is real money in the Far East and the industry behind it to insure a constant increase of wealth. Europe is impoverished to the desperate expedient of asking her creditors to cancel her obligations. She is devouring her substance in riotous military. Europe is no longer even potentially America's best customer. Wherefore we must look to the myriad populations of Asia for our most remunerative markets.

Legislation on the ship-subsidy bill pending in congress is retarded by an opinion in the Eastern and Atlantic states that the sole hope for an American merchant marine is in the trade of Europe, and that as Europe is now crippled by its unhappy economic conditions and the enormous inflation of its several currencies, it would be useless to build and operate American ships aided by a subsidy to enable our shipping to compete with the cheap traffic of Europe.

Apparently no thought is given to the golden opportunity of the Pacific and the demand of the Asiatic continent—an opportunity that may be wrested from us by Europe even in her impoverished condition, unless we provide the transportation necessary to carry our merchandise to this market and the facilities for return cargoes.

This is a matter that should engage the earnest attention of business interests of every Pacific coast seaport from Seattle to San Diego. It is through these ports that the bulk of this Pacific traffic will pass, and it will mean billions of profit to these communities. There is an opportunity at the present moment to build up a maritime trade on the Pacific far surpassing any that has monopolized the Atlantic ever since the Phoenicians sailed their first skin-sailed caravels past the pillars of Hercules.

Every pressure should be brought to bear on congress to enact the ship-subsidy bill. Facts and figures should be compiled and offered in corroboration and confirmation of the statement that the "mastery of the Pacific" by an American merchant marine is sufficient justification of the subsidy that will give us that mastery, and that financially, commercially and economically the consummation of this purpose will return to us in millions for the expenditure of thousands.

Education On Taxes

The more direct connection we can make between the burden of taxation and the benefit of taxation, the better for public spirit.

Of course we cannot make this direct connection uniformly. Many persons are going to make taxes, from which they get no direct benefit. Property owners without children will pay school taxes. Property owners who never drive on a highway and who rarely walk on a sidewalk, will be charged with construction and maintenance. But in many instances the connection can be made so direct as to give tax payers an understanding of why they should be levied, and will give residents a reason for direct demand that the taxes or fees should be charged.

By no means all taxes are formal. Some of them are very informal, and these are usually the ones most cheerfully paid.

For instance, the Parent-Teachers' association of the Riverdale, is preparing to provide hot lunches for the pupils. These lunches will cost money. They will, at most, be paid for only in part by the pupils. This cost will be defrayed by others than those that eat the lunches, and in no direct proportion by the parents of the pupils. But the residents of Riverdale will be glad to pay this tax, whether it is levied on them indirectly through being called on to share in a bazaar, or directly by a proportionate assessment. The present move is evidently an educational one. If enough patrons of the school are converted to the necessity of providing the hot lunch regularly, the cost will be raised in a more general and equitable way.

Those who pay this money will pay it gladly, because they know what good use of it is being made. We should have some similar educational progress in converting tax payers to the need of public costs.

Only a small portion of tax charges is "like death, sure." A general government, we may assume, must be had. We will always, in the county, for instance, have a board of supervisors, and a tax collecting system, and a fund dispensing system. But we can have fewer or more schools, fewer or more roads. We can have few or more such service departments as the horticulture, the library and the hospital.

It is the cost of these public service departments that must be understood. Understanding will help to make citizens satisfied with just taxes and resentful of the imposition of taxes wastefully planned or wastefully handled.

Zero Drives Them West

An extensive area east of the Rocky Mountains is swept by blizzards and is experiencing extreme cold. Even far down into the South the low temperatures extend. It is formal notice from Boreas that the rigors of winter have begun for that region.

Press reports indicate that ticket offices of transcontinental railroads are besieged with inquiries and requests for transportation to California. With the and with scarcity of coal in some places, the stream of tourists coming Californiaward is expected to reach large proportions soon.

More is brought into prominence an asset that is perpetual with California. Its wondrously mild and genial climate is perennial, and the fame of it lives. Whenever and wherever extreme wintry cold strikes a locality anywhere in North America, its people turn instinctively, in thought and longing, toward California.

Getting Ready for the Party

Respect the Flag

Col. Alvin M. Owsley, National Commander of The American Legion.

When you see the Stars and Stripes displayed, son, stand up and take off your hat. Somebody may titter. It is in the blood of some to deride all expression of noble sentiment. You may blaspheme in the street and stagger drunken in public places, and the bystander will not pay much attention to you, but if you should get down on your knees and pray to Almighty God, or if you should stand bareheaded while a company of old soldiers marches by with flags to the breeze, most people will think you are showing off.

But don't you mind! When Old Glory comes along, salute, and let them think what they please! When the band plays The Star Spangled Banner in a restaurant or hotel dining room, get up, even if you rise alone; stand there, and don't be ashamed of it, either.

Don't be ashamed when your throat chokes and the tears come when you see the flag flying from the masts of our ships on the great seas or floating from every flagstaff of the Republic. You will never have a worrier emotion. For of all the signs and symbols since the world began there is none so full of meaning as the flag of this country.

Other flags mean a glorious past; this flag means a glorious future. It is not so much the flag of our fathers as it is the flag of our children, and of countless children yet unborn. It is the flag of tomorrow, the signal of the "Good time coming." It is not the flag of your king; it is the flag of yourself and your neighbors.

Your flag stands for humanity, for an equal opportunity to all the sons of men. Of course, we have not yet arrived at that goal; injustice still dwells among us; senseless and cruel customs of the past still cling to us, but the flag leads the way to righting the wrongs of men.

Our flag is the world's symbol of liberty. That piece of red, white, and blue bunting means five thousand years of struggle upwards. It is the full-grown flower of generations fighting for liberty. It is the century plant of human hope in bloom.

Worth While Verse

MORN

In what a strange bewilderment do we Awake each morn from out the brief night's sleep.
Our struggling consciousness doth grope and creep
Its slow way back, as if it could not free
Itself from bonds unseen. Then Memory,
Like sudden light, outflashes from its deep
The joy or grief which it had last to keep
For us; and by the joy or grief we see
The new day dawned to like the yesterday;
We are unchanged; our life the same we knew
Before. I wonder if this is the way
We wake from death's short sleep, to struggle through
A brief bewilderment, and in dismay
Behold our life unto our old life true.

Time to Smile

THE WICKED WORM

Cuthbert had been listening for half an hour to a lecture from his father on the evils of late nights and late risings in the morning.

"You will never amount to anything," said the father, "unless you turn over a new leaf. Remember it's the early bird that catches the worm."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Cuthbert. "How about the worm? What did he get for turning out so early?"

"My son," replied the father, "that worm hadn't been to bed all night; he was on his way home."—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

HOW ABOUT NOAH?

It was a hot day on the border. The regiment had been ordered to move, and for more than an hour a soldier had tried to get his mule into a box car. The chaplain came along and began to laugh at the soldier's discomfiture. The poor soldier turned as he wiped his perspiring brow and said:

"Chaplain, how did Noah ever get two of these things into the Ark?—Everybody's Magazine.

INTERNAL COMMUNICATION

Pat had never been ill before so when he was brought to be and his friend, Mike, were much interested in the proceedings of the doctor. At last when the doctor began to use the stethoscope Mike could restrain himself no longer.

"Pat," he whispered, "what's he doing?"

"Hush, you old fool," Pat hissed, "can't you see he's phoning to me inside to find out what's the matter wid 'em?"—Harper's.

Some Odds and Ends

CANADIAN
As a test of strength, Labor forces a vote in the British House of Commons. The Bonar Law government wins by a majority of 104.

Our own Congress is dull enough. Britain is much less interesting to the average American. But this is interesting—Bonar Law is the first Canadian to take charge of the British empire. He was our neighbor before he moved away. And it'll be interesting, though not thrilling, to see how a man from the American continent handles the biggest job outside the United States. Canada is a good training school for such things. She has a lot of governmental common sense that it'd pay us to copy.

CAUGHT
Mitchell Hedges, explorer, casts a light fishing line in the Bay of Panama. A saffish weighing 4500 pounds swallows the bait. It's his last. Hedges lands the fish, 20 feet long.

It's a remarkable instance of the power of skill.

As in other activities of life, Hedges' skill was acquired slowly. When he started fishing, he probably was unable to land a six-pound bass. Your petty troubles are sent to make you skillful at handling the big ones.

DECIDING
Tony Gulstak, speeding on his motorcycle, "fails to make up his mind quick enough which of two routes to take," and crashes into a telephone pole, fracturing his skull. This happens at Writing, Ind.

The power of quick decision is among the most important faculties of the mind. Increasingly so, as road traffic becomes more congested. But develop it only for emergencies. In normal activities, snap-judgment is often as fatal as slow decision in emergencies. The world now is undoing Europe's snap-judgment of 1914.

FINGER-PRINTS
In 9 out of 10 cases, the guilt of criminals is definitely established by finger-prints. So claims James F. Bishop, addressing a convention of identification experts.

In the next few years, you'll hear and read a lot about the advisability of finger-printing everybody in America. It is the only form of identification that cannot be forged or mistaken. And there should be no more objection, to having fingerprints on file with the government, than giving your name to the census-taker. Fingerprints defend more people than they convict.

WARNING
World War veterans, who are entitled to vocational training but have not applied for it, must get their application in before December 16. After that, too late. The Vocational Rehabilitation Act so specifies.

Spread the word among disabled soldiers.

WOULD IMPROVE BLOCK

Editor Register: Linn L. Shaw advocates paying West First street to relieve the effects of the disgraceful condition of West Fifth street. I agree with him that the condition of Fifth street has greatly damaged Santa Ana, but I fail to see how paying West First street inside the city limits will relieve the traffic to and from the west portion of the county. There is no present possibility of paving First street west of the city limits, and even if that could be done a bridge across the river on First street would not be advisable, for bridges are very expensive and each one makes an obstruction to flood waters and adds to the danger of overflows.

My plan for quick and economical relief of the traffic on West Fifth is as follows:

East of Artesia street, Fifth is "dangerous but passable"; west of Artesia it is not so bad. Fourth street is in good condition to Artesia, but Artesia street in the short block between Fourth and Fifth is absolutely awful, and has been allowed to remain in that condition for months and months. Thousands of motorists who have braved the rugged hills and hollows of that block in their efforts to avoid the dangers of Fifth street have fervently condemned the city trustees to a place that is hotter than Santa Ana.

My suggestion is that the trustees furnish the street superintendent with a shovel and a wagon and team and order him to spend two or three days hauling gravel, or even plain dirt, and filling in the holes of Artesia. Very little honest toll would place that block in condition so that it could be navigated without breaking springs and one of the ten commandments, and that would help the Fifth street trouble by diverting more traffic to Fourth. My plan would also make the street superintendent useful as well as ornamental, at least for a short time.

I might also suggest a plan by which West Fourth street could be repaired without a bond issue or a street assessment, but the trustees would not adopt it—so what's the use!

IN THE LONG AGO

From the Register Files

December 11, 1908.
Assemblyman-elect, Richard Melrose, of Anaheim, said today that the proposal to divide Orange county would not be brought up at the next legislature. He says he has P. A. Stanton's word to that effect.

Dr. H. H. Forline has come here from Chicago to practice medicine. Sedgwick post, G. A. R., has elected officers: Commander, Jay W. Powers; senior vice commander, J. N. Martin; junior vice commander, H. E. Smith; chaplain, Herman Keopel; trustees, O. H. Coulter, E. T. Langley, A. B. Paul.

For sale—A good 10-acre ranch between Santa Ana and Tustin, set to walnuts and fruit. Good large house and outbuildings. Price $8,500. See S. P. Rees.

The members of the Swastika Twelve Whist club were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dickinson.

Some of the members of the grand jury were surprised and somewhat alarmed while they were visiting the Central grammar school at Anaheim. Principal P. L. Tope sounded a fire alarm, just to show how the building could be emptied in case of fire. Some of the grand jurors thought it was the real thing, and they were about to jump from the second story window when the principal told them that the call was a false alarm.

Adventures of The Twins

Marty Mink's Music,

By Olive Roberts Barton

Marty Mink wrote to the Green Wizard for a magical piano. "I do get so sick!" said he, "of hurrying home from school to do my practicing. Would you kindly send me a magical piano so that when I touch it, it will play itself."

The Green Wizard felt sorry for Marty and made him a nice little piano exactly like his old one, only that it had magical white keys and magical black keys that played anything you wished. When it was finished the Twins delivered it and took the old one away.

As Mrs. Mink was out marketing, she never knew the difference. "Won't she be surprised when she hears Marty playing so well!" laughed Nancy.

But what do you think! In less than a week the Green Wizard had another letter from Marty. "Fiddlesticks!" went the letter. "Ma says I've learned to play the piano perfectly now and she's bought me a fiddle. It's harder to learn than the other. Do you happen to have a magical fiddle, Mr. Wizard?"

The kind, patient wizard made a fiddle and sent it over with the Twins who gave it to Marty. "I hope he's satisfied now," said the Wizard.

But mind you he soon received a third letter.

"Ma's never satisfied. She says I've learned to fiddle so fast, she bought me a saxophone. 'Oh, do, please send me a magical saxophone. I'll never learn to play this thing.'"

So a magical saxophone he got. But that wasn't the end. Marty had a flute and a banjo and three kinds of drums, and a cello and a bass viol and a harp before he was through asking for things, and each time the nice, kind wizard helped him.
